Dear friends,

the deadline for the last STMS poll has long gone, so I declare the results that follow official:

```

+-----+
|                                     FIRST batch of STSMS: VOTE                                     |

```

All three STSMS have been approved, and I am happy for this. I'd be happier if we had a higher percentage of delegates voting, but you can't have everything in life, can you?

If anybody has any objection whatsoever to these results please react immediately. I will wait until the beginning of next week and then make these results official.

I'll get back to you very soon with other news.

Best regards to all,

Nicola
